

Press release of June 4, 2020

windream is present with further webcasts and at the DiMitEx in June

Bochum. In the shutdown, windream GmbH has succeeded in establishing a new online event with windream NOW. On this occasion, the manufacturer of the ECM-software of the same name presents in webcasts how medium-sized companies benefit from digitised processes. Due to the successful first edition, further windream NOW events will take place on 9 and 23 June 2020. Additionally, the Bochum-based software manufacturer will present itself at the DiMitEx, a virtual trade fair and user congress for digitisation in medium-sized companies, from June 22nd to July 3rd, 2020.

Companies that have digitalized their files, documents and processes, e-mail or invoice management have significant advantages in the current home office era. "All documents are available independent of location and time, archived e-mails are accessible company-wide for authorized users, approvals can be given while on the road. These are only a few examples which show how companies can continue their business operations", explains Roger David, CEO of windream GmbH. During the windream NOW on June 9 and 23, 2020, experts of the ECM-supplier will show how this works. In the free webcasts, participants can ask their questions about electronic document management and digital process management via a chat.

Additionally, windream will also be represented at the DiMitEx this year. Here, Marco Kessler, Business Alliance Manager of windream GmbH, will hold a presentation, on the first day, 22 June, at 11:20 a.m. entitled "Everything Home office or what? In the jungle between digitalization, video conferencing and daily business". The participants learn from the ECM expert how they their daily work with digital document processes and procedures seamlessly can continue from the home office. Furthermore the windream GmbH will participate in the DiMitEx from 22 June to 3 July with a virtual booth, where information material is available and interested parties can discuss questions or project issues with windream employees. The participation in the DiMitEx is free of charge. For registration: <https://dimitex.expo-ip.com/registrier>
